

Thanks to New York's Fracking Ban, "Twin Tiers" Now Look More Like Distant Cousins

MINING, QUARRYING AND OIL AND GAS GDP 2005-2017

MANUFACTURING GDP 2010-2017

AGRICULTURE

BRADFORD COUNTY, PA 2005-2012

- 1,106 Shale wells
- ↑ 11.8% Farms
- ↑ 15.5% Farm acreage
- ↑ 25.3% Land & buildings market value

“ [New York] lost over 1,300 dairy farms from 2007 to 2017. New York dairy farmers see friends in Pennsylvania who, in the same market conditions, are pulling through with the help of shale.”
- E&E News, July 2018

“When New York limited or essentially banned high volume hydraulic fracturing, it sort of ended a significant opportunity for the state, and for landowners, and for the communities. ... [I]n Pennsylvania, the opportunities are abounding.”

-Julie Lewis in “The Dividing Line: PA vs. NY Natural Gas Economics”